a uterus into a biological man who will still obviously NOT be able to become pregnant or give birth.

To be clear, a "Trans-woman" is a biological man who pretends to be a woman. Besides getting fake breasts, taking estrogen hormones, shaving his legs and wearing a wig and some makeup, now, thanks to the AMA, he might just go to the hospital for surgery to insert a uterus so he can further pretend to be a woman. No, it's not the million-dollar-man, or the bionic woman, … it's … wait for it… the million-dollar-tranny!

Science has no limits, declares the AMA clinicians, who are now obviously controlled by the gender fluid cult of insanity. To be "pro-science" these days means you are an anti-science, gay-bashing, racist bigot because you don't believe men can get pregnant and give birth.

To be "pro-science" means you don't believe in climate change, since there's no scientific proof the world is getting hotter. And to be pro-science means you don't believe in "vaccines" because vaccines are not based on "safe" or "effective" results from clinical trials anymore. Now, the AMA is literally anti-science, supporting ultra-expensive, useless surgeries for men who want to pretend they are women, so if doctors and surgeons don't "fall in line," they may just be losing their medical license, forevermore.

Inserting a uterus in a man is not an "ethical" consideration as the AMA would have us all believe

The Journal of Ethics says medicine should consider doing useless, massively expensive operations just to make trannies happy, for ethics, equality, and even political purposes. Is the American Medical Association a political activist organization now? Do they support science fiction, or science? They are stating that men who want to pretend they can have babies should be etc.? Is the AMA doing hysterectomies also for biological men so they can pretend more "science?" This is pure insanity.

Tune your internet dial to Gender.news for updates on the AMA pretending that men can give birth and doing useless $300,000 operations to support tranny mood swings. If America is the greatest country on earth, it sure is going down the tube faster than a tranny in high heels flushing a tampon he didn't need after getting his fake period and a definitive "no" on his pregnancy test.
